Hailing from the coast of the Mediterranean, Spanish trio Jupiter Lion arrive laden with preconceptions.

After all, it's journalistic cliché to label anything from sunny climes as 'Balaeric'. The reality, though, is somewhat different.

Fusing Krautrock style analogue synthesis with a daring, math-rock juxtaposition of tempos, Jupiter Lion gleefully cut up clichés and toss around the confetti.

New album 'Brighter' arrives on October 6th, and it features some truly jaw-dropping musical feats. Styles are erased, barriers broken and genres demolished with Jupiter Lion easily ranking alongside, say, 65daysofstatic in terms of frenetic invention.

Clash is able to premiere new track 'Lost Cannibal'. Never quite settling into one tempo, it achieves the fluidity of jazz while retaining the precise technology of machine music.

Utterly engrossing and, at times, oddly emotional, you can tune in below.
