Selling Points:

- Third release of this young trio from Zaragoza, after their self-released debut EP and their debut album for BCore "It's close, that's what matters" (2007)
- Dozens of concerts around Spain and a whole european tour with Medications on Dischord Records
- Produced and arranged by Santi Garcia and Victor Garcia at Ultramarinos Costa Brava Studios, Sant Feliu de Guixols.

With "It's close, that's what matters" (BCore, 07) this trio made us jump from our seat with a discharge of energetic post-hardcore that we hadn't heard since the days of Aina. Grown up musically at the Arrebato punk showroom in Zaragoza, after experiences in bands like Waco or William, they became without noticing one of the most representative outfits from Zaragoza's hardcore scene, hand in hand with Persona. Playing everywhere around Spain with Nueva Vulcano, Delorean or No More Lies, their live performance impressed the group Medications from Dischord Records, who brought them on a tour together around Europe. With such an energy injection, they went to Ultramarinos Costa Brava Studios to record five new tracks with Santi Garcia as a brilliant end of season happening. Santi not only played the engineer but also became responsible of most of the arrangements in the recording, and his brother Victor on piano gave to this EP a twist into the intelligible, a little more brightness to their complex and smart sound. Youthful adrenaline, twisted in some moments and measured in others, that makes us think of Kerosene 454 or Bluetip. A little gift in the shape of an EP to remind us that they're back to the front, with more mature songs, more concrete, with a total control over dissonance, explicit lyrics and instrumental landscapes richer than ever, to let us still believe in youth as the main value of underground.
