Delorean is a young band coming from Zarautz that was born on march 2000, with the initial intention to do a pop band. After their first shows, their love to synths lead them to some changes musically. In september 2001 their debut album "Silhouettes" was released through Underhill Records. The 9 songs contained in this debut show their pop influences but they also start showing their influence by bands like The Rentals, New Order or The Cure. After re-releasing this record in a french label (Sam Jam) and touring twice in Spain, the band decides to record a new full-length in summer 2003. For this, they moved to Sant Feliu de Guixols to have Santi Garcia recording it, and in this point things get serious; Delorean have recorded 9 awesome songs of dark pop music, danceable as hell. 9 songs somewhere between the most accesible Cure, the coldest The faint, the most danceable Radio 4 and the darkest Sunshine. Their devotion to Kraftwerk is clearer than ever. Dark pop full of adrenaline revisited from the actual and punk attitude of a band that will surprise more than one. The best pop from the 80 mixed with the best actual acts...this record will be published in january 2004 through Bcore Disc.
