A few months after the release of "A propósito de Garfunkel", Ramón Rodríguez hits us again with this 10" that just confirms that The New Raemon are here to stay. Six new songs, produced by Ricky Falkner and Jordi C. Corchs at Infusiones Musicales, as an epilogue of one of 2008's more exciting albums. The luminous "Sucedáneos", also one of the best songs of his live repertoire, and the huge cover of labelmates Nueva Vulcano's "Mano izquierda" have the trademark of his brilliant debut. But the novelty comes with a darker side that we didn't know, the one that holds the melancholic "Tiembla Dublín", the progressive "No fastidies" and specially "Sombrío", a one and a half minute-shiver that expands the artistic horizon of the band further in a late-night whiplash. Released on vinyl only!
